

In the late eighties Bucks County Council offered villages sacks of bulbs. Margaret and Peter Haywood and their friends went out and planted them. Which is why the arrival of spring in Flackwell Heath is announced by a brave show of daffodils.